Tuscaloosa Career Center Open Today

Center to offer free internet for individuals still searching for missing family, in need of employment services or to file for unemployment compensation

MONTGOMERY- The Tuscaloosa Career Center opened today to aid those in need of internet service following Wednesday's tornado. Brenda Truelove, site manager, says the Career Center wants to help the community using the resources they have available. "We have internet access which is in high demand around here right now," she said. "We are offering it to those who may need it to search for their missing family members, file for unemployment compensation or to utilize our job search services." The Career Center is located at 202 Skyland Drive and is open until 4:30 p.m. today.
